Senator Winters Has Heavy Fire Loss

The fire loss of W. A. Winters whose home was consumed by flames yesterday was only partially covered by insurance. It was at first reported that all household belongings were destroyed, but Mr. Winters told the writer today that a portion of his household effects were saved, and that much of his effects having both an intrinsic and sentimental value were destroyed.

The splendid library, which the Senator prized most highly, perished with the splendid seven-room residence.

The fire originated near the top of the house, from some unknown cause, according to Mr. Winters. He summoned tenants to his aid in fighting the flames and found that many of the tenants and neighbors were in town or elsewhere, he said. It soon became necessary to abandon the efforts to save the house, and save as much of the furnishings as possible. In this the shortage of manpower again handicapped the efforts.

Industries Dn War Time Basis

By GRATTAN McGROARTY
WASHINGTON—Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson revealed today that 10,000 industrial plants have been given "definite war schedules of production."

However, he warned that 250 of these plants, on which armed forces must rely for 55 critical military items, cannot perform wartime tasks because of a shortage of funds. He said that the War Department would ask Congress for special appropriations for "educational orders" to eliminate an industrial "bottleneck" which might prove disastrous in event of a war.

Addressing a conference of army procurement experts, summoned to Washington to discuss industrial mobilization, Johnson declared that the United States must be prepared to meet the needs of changing strategic situations, presumably meaning that attack might come from any or all quarters or that this country might be forced to carry the fight far from home.

"Our shopping list for items of war equipment includes 7,300 articles or processes for production," he said. "With your help, we have found production facilities in industry for practically all of them."

DOGS TO BE INOCULATED

Air Trip Sets Low Price Record

NEW YORK—John M. Jones estimated today that it had cost him $30.91 to fly non-stop from Los Angeles to New York in his "scooter" plane.

He landed at Roosevelt Field late yesterday, 30 hours and 37 minutes after leaving Los Angeles. He had flown 2,785 miles and set a new distance record for light planes.

The trip, he said, was "pleasant and uneventful." He cruised at 91 miles an hour, at an altitude of 5,000 feet.

The plane was a four cylinder motor of 50 horsepower and burns three and a half gallons of gasoline an hour. Without fuel, it weighs only 650 pounds. Its regular gas tank has only a 12-gallon capacity. He took off, however, with 146 gallons—a fuel load of 1,280 pounds, almost twice the weight of the plane. The motor used less than one quart of oil on the trip, and there were 23 gallons of gasoline left.

The plane has a lower horsepower rating and operates more cheaply than most automobiles.

Jones, 25, a former vaudeville dancer, is a native of Van Nuys, Calif. He has an interest in an airplane company in California. The route of his flight was over Yuma, Tucson, El Paso, Fort Worth, Nashville, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and New York. The most difficult part of the trip, he said, was the climb to 7,000 feet to get over the mountains east of El Paso.

Grenada's WPA Paving Approved

Henry Ford Will Aid The Jews

DETROIT—Henry Ford urged a limited admission of Jewish refugees from Germany into the United States today. He said they would be "a real asset to our country" and that he would do everything possible toward helping oppressed Jews rebuild their lives.

He made the statement after a conference with Rabbi Leo M. Franklin. He praised Jewish workers for their "ability and loyalty." His statement follows:

I believe that the United States cannot fail at this time to maintain its traditional role as a haven for the oppressed. I am convinced not only that this country could absorb many of the victims of oppression who must find refuge outside their native lands, but that as many of them as could be admitted under our quota system would constitute a real asset to our country. Because of their special adaptability in the fields of production, distribution and agriculture, they would offer to the business of this country a new impetus at a time like this when it is badly needed. Hundreds of Jewish men now employed in our plants show marked ability and loyalty, and if the turnover among them is sometimes comparatively high, it is indicative of their justified abotion to improve themselves.

It was believed that they were going to the scene of the abduction to have Lucy, 15, who fought her way free from the men late yesterday, point out the exact spot. There was a possibility that they might be going to Baltimore, although police at headquarters denied that they were holding any suspect in the case there.

The Baltimore police, under the direction of Lieut. Robert Bradley, arrived here soon after Capt. Edward McK. Johnson of the Maryland State police took charge of the search for the girl who was kidnapped within sight of the National Capital.

The Bureau of Investigation refused to say what action it was taking, but it was assumed that G-men had been assigned to the case, as is customary.

The father and sister of the girl left their homes at 7:40 a.m. this morning with four Baltimore city detectives.

ITALY ACCEDES

LONDON—Italy will accede to the 1936 naval agreement signed by the United States, Great Britain and France, it was announced today.

French Govt. Hard On Strikers

PARIS—Strikers were sentenced to prison today and an estimated 120,000 throughout France were locked out or discharged from factories in government penitentiary measures for yesterday's general strike.

As the government cracked down on strikers in nationalized industries holding armaments contracts, labor warned Premier Edouard Daladier not to interpret his victory over the strikers as an invitation to establish a dictatorship.

The Valenciennes court condemned six strikers to three months imprisonment. Another court session was to be held later in the day. The jail at Valenciennes was crowded with strikers and 20 strikers were transferred to Douai prison pending a hearing.

A confederation of labor leaders, glass workers and the communist assistant mayor of an industrial village near Valenciennes were arrested today charged with rebellion against officers of the law.

Trouble was expected at Denain when steel mills start employing workers to replace those discharged on the grounds that they broke their contracts. A heavy detachment of guards surrounded the mills. Work was not resumed this morning due to the local holiday at St. Eloi.

Fourteen Are Injured In Train-Bus Crash

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—The bodies of nineteen school children, mangled beyond recognition, in many cases were being removed from the debris caused by a fast freight train crashing into a school bus near Salt Lake City this morning. Fourteen other occupants of the fateful bus were rushed to hospitals, all seriously hurt and some of them in a危急 condition.

For a quartet of a mile from the point of impact, parts of the bodies were strewn along with the properties of the school children.

Panic stricken parents are endeavoring to identify the remains, by bits of clothing, personal effects and treasures which their children had when they left for school.

Two Held For Liquor Hauling

JACKSON, Miss.—Two men were held today for transporting 300 cases of whiskey to an oasis in this legally dry state.

The men were booked as Grover Graham and Roy Plummer, both of Biloxi. Officers said they were informed the liquor was intended for Rankin county's "Gold Coast," despite a bill of lading showing that it was en route from Vicksburg to Biloxi.

Believe Aged Man Poisoned

LOS ANGELES—An 86 year old millionaire's mysterious illness was investigated today because relatives feared that he was being slowly poisoned.

The aged man has become weaker and weaker the past month, while physicians stood by baffled, and finally Tuesday night he was removed from his palatial home to a private hospital on orders from district attorney Buron Fitts.

His identity will not be revealed until an investigation has been completed, Fitts said. The district attorney ordered a chemical analysis of "certain materials" from the man's bedroom.

Three nurses caring for the patient on eight hour shifts, and eating the same food he did also are ill. They were ordered to the same hospital.

RUMANA KILLS

"LITTLE HITLER"

BUCHAREST, Roumania—King Carol II answered a threat of assassination today by ordering the arrest of all members of the Fascist Anti-Semitic iron guard, whose "fuehrer" and 13 high leaders were slain by prison guards yesterday.

Revenge assassins of high government officials were considered to be more than mere possibilities and suspected members of the outlawed organization were being rounded up throughout the country. The King met with members of the cabinet and sanctioned the most severe repressive measures.

Gendarmerie were told that they might "dispense with the form required by law," or in other words, "shoot to kill" if they met with resistance.

These severe repressive measures were decreed after the distribution of an iron guard pamphlet personally addressed to the king which offered him a "last choice" it said.

Grenada County Public Library is to have a bookmobile soon. This is made possible because of the efficient operation which has characterized the library since its beginning.

The WPA State Library Project is placing nine bookmobiles in Mississippi as an experiment. They will be placed in counties for one year, where the best library work is being done. One was offered Grenada county with this statement from the secretary of the the county now exclusive of Grenada. The librarian carries books to each of these monthly. The books are carried in a car and about 100 taken at a time. It takes 26 days to service all the centers.

The bookmobile will carry 600 or more volumes. This will make it possible to get the books out in less than half the time it now takes. It follows, naturally, that more centers can be made and more people given an opportunity to read—this is the objective in placing the bookmobiles. It may be that some neighboring counties will also be reached.

The coming of these bookmobiles marks a new epoch in library history in Mississippi. The state is near the bottom in library facilities. Do the people want better library facilities? Well, here they are in some localities, temporarily, at least. The way they are used will be our answer to the above question. The way we use the bookmobile in Grenada county will determine the future income and development of the public library.

One obligation is attached to the bookmobile. The running expense is to be paid from local funds. Our income is too small to include this item. The Twentieth Century Club of Grenada, has always sponsored the library so it agreed to be responsible for this item.

This club asks the help of the entire county in making this a successful experiment.

LET'S UNITE IN OUR CHRISTMAS GIVING

(Contributed)

An idea has been brought forward that the City of Grenada have a Community Christmas tree in the public square on Sunday, December 18th at 5:30 p. m. and have young and old come and offer praise in the form of Christmas Carols and gifts of food, clothing and toys for the underprivileged.

The day following, a committee, (representing all of the clubs of the city that do any kind of welfare work) will meet and sort for distribution the gifts that are received. This will insure a more far-reaching distribution and avoid duplication or some being overlooked.

Several members of the McDowell Music Club have been contacted and have expressed a willingness to attend emmaus and lead the singing of well-known Christmas Carols. The Grenada Band would certainly add materially to the popularity of the occasion.

Organizations interested in this plan are asked to phone Mrs. P.
T. LaGrone so that the idea may be developed and advertised.

bad financial straits back in 1930, along with most of the financial institutions in the county. To do so would have meant to confess the precarious conditions of the bank and thus endanger the savings of the other depositors.

Affirming the decision of the chancery court in favor of the children Supreme Court Justice Griffith commented: 'The difficult and embarrassing position in which the appellant found himself in the gloom of the dark days then lowering upon the country excites a natural sympathy, but it must be repeated as he has in one form or another so often heretofore been declared, that the wards of guardianship come first—a guardian can have no divided interest.'

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Among the Supreme Court decisions recently rendered are two which may prove of interest to the general public. One of the cases was a suit filed in the Winston County chancery court against the former guardian of some children to recover the balance of a trust fund which had been deposited in a bank which later failed and could only repeat part of the trust fund in its liquidation. The former guardian was cashier of the bank at the time of his appointment, and failed to ask the chancellor for permission to withdraw the fund at the time the bank was in

Another Important Decision
The other case affirmed a judgment of damages rendered by a Hinds County jury against the Commercial Credit Company in favor of a citizen whose automobile was seized from a parking lot by an agent of the company for an unpaid installment, without having first having obtained a writ of replevin from the court. The opinion also rendered by Justice Griffith, stated that finance companies have no authority to seize automobiles under conditional sales contracts without the usual recourse to the courts.

OF INTEREST TO HUNTERS
In the fields and water areas of Mississippi this year will be an abundance of birds and water fowl. In recognition of this fact, the duck hunting season which began November 15 has been extended to 45 days instead of the usual 30-day period. In furtherance of its policy of adhering to the wishes of sportsmen as closely as possible, the State Game Commission have issued a low priced license of only $3.25, which is state-wide, and which eliminates the necessity of checking county lines. Hunters with state-wide licenses are now able to hunt birds in one area and then go to another area for ducks and deer and all this for the small fee of $3.25, minus the worry of county lines.

New Quarters for The Commission
Meanwhile the State Game and Fish Commission has moved its into new quarters at the corner of Pearl and South Congress Streets in Jackson. In its new location the Commission will have a new museum and a large aquarium are open to the public and everyone is invited cordially to

THEY CAME WITH ONE ACCORD

(By Mrs. J. M. Bryant)
I sat in a home of sorrow; the Death Angel had passed that way—
For the many kind deeds granted me I was there my respects to pay.

I noted the various classes of people who gazed on the departed one's face;
Americans, Italians and also sorrowing ones of the colored race.
As I gazed into tearful eyes, 'twas plain for me to see
He had been just as kind to others as he had been to me.

I thought, "There's no better plan to pave a smooth road Heaven's way."

Than to show kindness to others while on earth we're allowed to stay."

We, who sorrow and miss Mr. Will Hill, let's try to emulate his plan,
By showing some kindness from day to day to our fellowman.

COTTON MEN SHOULD PROTEST

The Southern Cotton Farmer is not only faced by the competition of cotton growers in other countries, but the use of cotton substitutes is becoming a matter of the gravest concern to all cotton growers.

Of the fiber competitors, Rayon seems to have made the most rapid gains during the last few years.

The writer is indebted to R. C. Trusty, local merchant, for calling attention to a recent article in the Commercial Appeal, dealing with this problem, and chronicling the efforts of a small group of cotton men to protect their staple from the onslaught of synthetic productions.

It will be remembered that when Rayon was first introduced it used cotton very largely in the production of its earlier imitation of silken wear.

Gradually the chemists employed by the producing corporation have found a way to use wood almost exclusively until the rayon products produced from wood have destroyed demand for over three million bales of American cotton.

Members of the families of Southern cotton farmers are almost universally buying this "wooden clothing" which imitates silk, under the illusion that the product is made largely from their cotton.

Mr. Trusty has well suggested that a law should be passed requiring garments produced from "wood" rayon be so labelled that buyers know what they are buying.

It would be well for persons having the interest of cotton at heart, write their representatives in Congress and request a label law, so at least cotton farmers have the privilege of knowing how they may aid the program for the consumption of their staple.

Ireland Has Hostilities

BELFAST, Ireland—The border between Northern Ireland and the Irish Free State was closed at many points today after a night of terrorism and attacks on customs posts. No casualties were reported.

Dynamite explosions wrecked customs houses along the Northern Ireland side of the border after Nationalist members of the Parliament of Northern Ireland passed a resolution comparing the Northern Government with Fascist Governments.

The land exploded simultaneously at the customs houses at Carrick Aeron, on the Main Dundalk Newry road, at Ferryhill, between Greenvale and Newry and at Killeen Belvoir. The customs posts at Newtown Butler and Kinawley Mullan were also blown up.

Considerable agitation for Northern Ireland's union with Ireland had been underway at Newtown Butler and the Northern Ireland Government banned all meetings a fortnight ago.

Customs houses on the Eire side of the border were not touched.

R. E. A. IN MISSISSIPPI

The Rural Electrification Administration in Washington recently made an allocation to another project in Mississippi, in the amount of $368,000. This money will be used to build 400 miles of rural electric line in Clarke, Jasper, Lauderdale and Wayne counties, and will serve 1,471 customers who are not now receiving the benefits of electricity. Since July 1, 1938, the current fiscal year $3,105,000 has been allocated to Mississippi projects. This money has been loaned to the various associations throughout the state for the purpose of building approximately 3,300 miles of rural electric lines, and will serve approximately 12,000 rural customers.

He said he had been accused of making a "most un-American speech, of defense of Nazism and the Nazi program, of being a sadist and of gross errors in fact." Introducing the transcription Coughlin said it would prove that the charges against him were "gross misrepresentations of fact."

"Admittedly," he said, "I did attack and will continue to attack Atheistic Jews and Atheistic Gentiles. But I will prove that actually I invited and still invite the non-Communist, and non-Atheistic Jews whom I really sympathize, to join me in spirit and with whom I deeply combat Communism."

"I will prove that I did not defend Nazism but condemned it vigorously. I will prove that I condemned the Nazi program."

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Gold Crown, If It Is Skillfully Built, Protects Tooth Weakened by Decay

By CLAUDE NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

FOR a number of years the subject of gold crowns on teeth has been discussed pro and con by both physicians and dentists. Some insist that they are all bad and a great source of danger while others contend that they are good and almost indispensable for the proper chewing of food under certain circumstances. I have seen bad abscess formation under crowns and the same condition with no crown, and as a result have been an innocent bystander. The root of the tooth, imbedded in the bone and surrounded by gum tissue, is not so subject to decay as the crown. The crown is subject to injury and being constantly surrounded by infection in the mouth is more likely to decay. When the crown of the tooth decays, it is weakened and cannot stand the stress and strain of chewing unless it is supported in some way.

R. Russell Mitchell, D.D.S., in an article in "Life and Health," gives an intelligent and reasonable defense of gold crowns. When a tooth, particularly a molar is decayed, it must be reinforced if it is not to break off under the heavy strain of mastication. The gold shell crown is the strongest and most dependable material for this purpose.

The decay is often so widespread that it involves the pulp or nerve, making it necessary to remove the pulp and fill the cavity with an antiseptic root filling. A well-made gold crown is safe and useful. As Dr. Mitchell describes the construction of a crown, I can readily see that it has many good points with few objectionable features.

To have a safe crown it is important that only a skillful, ethical dentist be employed, but that holds good in all professional work.

The tooth should be healthy, either vital or if pulsless, the root should be clean and free from disease.

(1) The caliper of the band should exactly fit the circumference of the crown just under the gum margin as a rule.

(2) The crown should conform to the shape of the natural crown it is to restore.

When these principles are carried out, the gold crown is safe and useful. As Dr. Mitchell describes the construction of a crown, I can readily see that it has many good points with few objectionable features.

The decay is often so widespread that it involves the pulp or nerve, making it necessary to remove the pulp and fill the cavity with an antiseptic root filling. A well-made gold crown is safe and useful.

Removing the pulp kills the tooth and it becomes brittle and easily broken. For this reason it must be strengthened by a crown portion and a band. Gold is best for this purpose. Only pulpal teeth develop abscesses at the root and a large proportion of crowded teeth are pulpal, so when an abscess develops the crown is blamed.

This is unfortunate but true. If not crowned, an abscess will develop just as readily. The crown is also very useful as an abutment place for bridges, especially in the back teeth. When a gold crown is used as an attachment for a bridge the abutment tooth is usually alveolar and the placement of a crown improperly made does not impair the usefulness of the tooth or lead to infection.

Dr. Mitchell admits that this form of restoration is abused, and is one of the favorite types used by the quack or unethical dentist. The gold crown can be the source of increasing the income of the dentist who is not so much interested in the patient or his teeth as he is in the fee from placing gold crowns on any or all teeth. However, this evil is not the fault of the gold crown, but rather of the abuse.

The gold crown has a very useful place in dentistry, and in the hands of a competent, conscientious dentist can be of great service in restoring our ability to chew food.

Dr. Mitchell gives three principles to govern its use:

(1) The tooth should be healthy, either vital or if pulsless, the root should be clean and free from disease.

(2) The caliper of the band should exactly fit the circumference of the crown just under the gum margin as a rule.

(3) The crown should conform to the shape of the natural crown it is to restore.

When these principles are carried out, the gold crown is safe and useful. As Dr. Mitchell describes the construction of a crown, I can readily see that it has many good points with few objectionable features.

Only pulpal teeth develop abscesses at the root and a large proportion of crowded teeth are pulpal, so when an abscess develops the crown is blamed.

This is unfortunate but true. If not crowned, an abscess will develop just as readily. The crown is also very useful as an abutment place for bridges, especially in the back teeth. When a gold crown is used as an attachment for a bridge the abutment tooth is usually alveolar and the placement of a crown improperly made does not impair the usefulness of the tooth or lead to infection.

Dr. Mitchell admits that this form of restoration is abused, and is one of the favorite types used by the quack or unethical dentist. The gold crown can be the source of increasing the income of the dentist who is not so much interested in the patient or his teeth as he is in the fee from placing gold crowns on any or all teeth. However, this evil is not the fault of the gold crown, but rather of the abuse.

The gold crown has a very useful place in dentistry, and in the hands of a competent, conscientious dentist can be of great service in restoring our ability to chew food.

Dr. Mitchell gives three principles to govern its use:

(1) The tooth should be healthy, either vital or if pulsless, the root should be clean and free from disease.

(2) The caliper of the band should exactly fit the circumference of the crown just under the gum margin as a rule.

(3) The crown should conform to the shape of the natural crown it is to restore.

When these principles are carried out, the gold crown is safe and useful. As Dr. Mitchell describes the construction of a crown, I can readily see that it has many good points with few objectionable features.

To have a safe crown it is important that only a skillful, ethical dentist be employed, but that holds good in all professional work.

The tooth should be healthy, either vital or if pulsless, the root should be clean and free from disease.

The decay is often so widespread that it involves the pulp or nerve, making it necessary to remove the pulp and fill the cavity with an antiseptic root filling. A well-made gold crown is safe and useful.

Removing the pulp kills the tooth and it becomes brittle and easily broken. For this reason it must be strengthened by a crown portion and a band. Gold is best for this purpose. Only pulpal teeth develop abscesses at the root and a large proportion of crowded teeth are pulpal, so when an abscess develops the crown is blamed.

This is unfortunate but true. If not crowned, an abscess will develop just as readily. The crown is also very useful as an abutment place for bridges, especially in the back teeth. Property Saved By Fire Crews

JACKSON, Miss.—During the month of October, on several occasions, the fire crews of the Mississippi Forestry Commission saved a great deal of property.

In Simpson county, the lookout happened to notice that a smoke house, owned by J. W. Sullivan, was on fire. He immediately directed a fire crew to the scene and, through their efforts, Mr. Sullivan's house was saved.

In Jackson county, on a high windy day, fire started near Hurley, Miss. Crews were immediately dispatched to the fire and upon arrival they found that a church, a house and other out buildings were on fire. Before attempting to fight the woods fires, these crews put out the fires that were threatening these buildings. In fact, because of the high winds, it was necessary to extinguish fires burning these buildings twice during the day.

Naturally, homes and other property are very important and the crews put the fires out that were threatening property before fighting woods fires, and the area burned over is rather large. This is as it should be, because homes come first.

Cattle Numbers Are Probably Starting Upward in New Cycle

The cattle industry has started upon a period of moderate expansion which may continue for some years. Paul Newell, extension animal husbandman of Mississippi State College, said this week in discussing the long-time outlook for beef cattle just reported by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

"Cattle production," Newell said, "operates in cycles. The high point in cattle numbers in the last cycle was reached in 1934, and declined to the low point by January 1, 1938, to January 1, 1939, cattle numbers probably will increase about 1 percent, which will be the initial increase in the new cycle upon which cattle production apparently has started."

Most of the increase in cattle numbers during 1938 is expected to occur in the area west of the Mississippi River. This is the area where nearly all of the reduction in cattle from the peak of 1934 has taken place.

Barring the recurrence of a series of drought years such as prevailed from 1934 to 1937," Newell said, "it seems fairly certain that cattle numbers will tend to expand for some years." The rate and extent of this expansion cannot be predicted at this time, but it appears unlikely that cattle numbers will reach as high a peak in the present cycle as was reached early in 1934.

Newell further pointed out that increasing numbers of cattle during the next few years will result largely from withholding cattle from slaughter. Slaughter of cattle and calves will be at a lower level than that of the past years. Supplies of hogs and hog slaughter are expected to expand rather sharply. Total meat supplies doubtless will be considerably larger than the average of the past four years.

Magnolia State Tree Planting Is Urged

JACKSON, Miss.—A magnolia tree on every school and other public grounds in Mississippi is proposed by H. P. Heideberg, Pascagoula attorney, as a means of exhibiting to the public the State flower and the official State tree as designated by the legislature in 1938. In a recent letter to the Mississippi Forestry Commission, Mr. Heideberg called attention to the fact that many public properties within the Magnolia State do not display specimens of this tree. State Forester Fred Merrill says that the Commission, at its December 2nd meeting, will consider possibilities of providing for the deficiencies.

Antarctic Forecasts Planned
Sydney, N. S. W.—Plans to set up 12 meteorological stations in the Antarctic are under way. Sir Hubert Wilkins, the famous Australian explorer said on his arrival here from the United States.

Herty Memorial Forests Planned

JACKSON, Miss.—"Herty Demonstration Forests," planned by the associates of Dr. Chas. M. Herty in slash pine forestry and approved by Dr. Herty before his passing, are to be designated as Herty Memorial Forests. Individuals, club groups and others are asked to establish these living monuments as tributes to Dr. Herty, and to give forestry training and demonstrations to individuals and the public.

The Mississippi Forestry Commission is cooperating in the movement and will supply slash pine seedling at $1.50 per thousand. This number of trees will plant nearly an acre with the trees spaced six feet apart each way. At the December 2nd meeting of the Commission, consideration will be given to supplying a suitable mark for each memorial forest established along public roads in the slash pine section of Mississippi.

Orders for trees should be placed with the State Forester at Jackson or with the Nurseryman, Richard C. Allen, University State Forest Nursery, R. F. D. Perkins-ton, Miss.

Mississippi Farm News

MISSISSIPPI cotton farmers will vote in the south-wide referendum on December 10 to determine whether they want to use cotton marketing quotas in 1939 to control the production of cotton. Two thirds of all farmers who vote in the referendum must favor the application of marketing quotas if they are to be effective in 1939.

The cotton marketing quota of a farm is the amount of cotton that can be sold without penalty. For a farm planting within its cotton acreage allotment, the quota is the amount of cotton the farm produces, plus any cotton produced in a previous year which would not have been subject to a penalty if it had been marketed that year. This means that the cooperating farmer can sell all the cotton he produces on his allotted acres without penalty.

For a farm on which the producer plants more than his acreage allotment, the quota is the amount of cotton produced on the allotted acres or the normal production of the allotted acres, whichever is greater, plus any cotton produced in a previous year which would not have been marketed that year.

Farmers who do not cooperate in the cotton adjustment program and plant more than their allotted acreage would have to pay a penalty of three cents per pound on all cotton sold in excess of the farm quota.

Non-cooperating farmers will also lose all conservation payments they will receive no parity payments in 1939, they can obtain loans only on the amount of cotton produced in excess of the marketing quota and that at only 60 percent of the rate to cooperating farmers.

The purpose of marketing quotas is to control the production of cotton and to place a penalty on farmers who do not cooperate. The present supply of cotton is the largest on record. The demand for cotton is poor, and agricultural authorities believe that without the government loan cotton would now be selling around 5 cents per pound.

There will be no loans on cotton unless cotton marketing quotas are in effect.

County agents and cooperating farm leaders are holding community meetings throughout the state. Every cotton farmer is urged to attend his local meeting and get all the information possible in order that he may be prepared to vote intelligently in the referendum on December 10th.

At the local meetings the farmers will discuss the results obtained under the AAA during the past five years, the need for continuing a farm program, the main provisions of proposed substitute farm programs, the cotton situation, and cotton marketing quotas.

The last work in cotton production, results of years of research in Mississippi and other leading cotton states, is conveyed in two new and coordinated publications. The other with land preparation planning, and cultivation.

Decidedly not of the light reading class, the publications are compilations of experimental data and other information coordinated in such a manner as to convey within the smallest possible number of pages the most comprehensive information available concerning cotton. More than 100 experiments are digested, and local application is given not only by means of the experimental work of the Mississippi Experiment Station and the several branch stations, but also by applicable data from Experiment Stations in most of the other cotton states.

Bulletin No. 323, "Cotton Land Preparation, Planting, and Cultivation" is the most comprehensive preparation of land for planting; planting data, including treatment of seed, date, rate, and depth of planting, and width of row; and cultivation methods are detailed as to frequency, depth, and width of beds.

Bulletin No. 321, "Cotton Fertilizers" conveys exhaustive tests of analyses, quantity, time of application, and placement.

Published cooperatively by the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station and the Mississippi State Vocational Board, the two bulletins are latest editions to the series for use by students in Vocational Agriculture. They are freely available upon request, however Dr. Clarence Dorman, acting director of the Experiment Station suggests that farmers desiring to plan for most effective work may profit from close study of the two publications.

F. D. R. To Seek Labor Peace

(Copyright 1938 By United Press)

WASHINGTON—A high administration official indicated today that President Roosevelt might act before spring to revive peace talks between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Mr. Roosevelt and his labor advisers were represented as hopeful, however, that AFL and CIO leaders themselves would resume negotiations without interference or presidential intervention.

It was emphasized that Mr. Roosevelt will make no obvious peace move until the "time is ripe"—until he believes that leaders of both factions of organized labor would be receptive to mild prodding.

There was little indication today of progress in the administration's behind-the-scenes campaign for labor unity—a campaign that was begun with Mr. Roosevelt's public bid for peace in a letter to the AFL convention at Houston. A similar letter went to the CIO's first constitutional convention at Pittsburgh.

Highest officials of both the AFL and the CIO told the United Press privately that, although they desired an "honorable peace," there were few indications that a movement for it now would be successful.

The AFL position is: "Peace—not surrender to the rebels."

The CIO's is: "Peace without peace."

Premotion

Saves Students

JOPLIN, Mo.—Miss Dollie Board, 30, who has been a primary teacher in the public schools for 40 years, said today that a premonition of an impending disaster led her to march 24 pupils from her classroom a few minutes before tons of plaster crashed from the ceiling.

Table legs and desks were driven through the floor by the impact of the plaster and metal laths which fell where the children had been sitting.

Miss Board said she had no forewarning or belief that the ceiling would collapse except the premonition that told her something was wrong. She insisted there was no cracking of the plastering and that it was her belief the building was in good condition.

"I was nervous and had a feeling something awful was about to happen," she said. "It was just God, providence I would call it."

"Undoubtedly every child in the room would have been killed or maimed," said E. A. Elliott, superintendent of schools.

After a consultation with engineers, Elliott said the crash apparently was due to "faulty construction."

Miss Board said she attempted to hurry the children from the room without them realizing the panic she felt.

"Run, children; let's see who can get out of the room first, we'll all take a short recess," she said, and the youngsters laughingly obeyed.

Seconds after Miss Board followed the last child out of the room and they stood in the hallway, the ceiling collapsed.

Spies Convicted

NEW YORK—A hairdresser and an airplane mechanic were convicted today of being spies in the United States in behalf of Nazi Germany.

The fate of a third defendant, a former private in the army air corps, still rested with the federal court jury.

Found guilty and facing prison terms that may amount to 20 years were Johanna Hoffman, 27, year-old former hairdresser of the North German Lloyd liner, Europa, and Otto Hermann Voss, 39, a German-born mechanic in the Seversky Airline Factory at Farmingdale, Long Island, which manufactures planes for the army. The jury resumed deliberations today in the case of Erich Glaser, 28, German-born former private in the Army Air Corps.

Holdenville, Okla.—A Black endurifer, Model 8, similar to the typewriter upon which Mark Twain wrote the first typed manuscript ever submitted to an editor, was displayed here. Developed in the later part of the 19th century, its letters and characters were arranged on a revolving drum and were inked by a wicklike cloth before they came into contact with paper.

WASHINGTON—Treasury figures showed today that the government is going into the red almost twice as fast now as in the previous fiscal year.

Comparisons must be approximate because final reports for the first four months of the fiscal year will not be published until Dec. 2. But the deficit figures indicate that the government's average spending beyond income each month since this fiscal year started has been almost $80,000,000 compared with an excess of spending over receipts of about $170,000 per month one year ago.

President Roosevelt has had budget discussions with visitors at Warm Springs, Ga., where he is on his annual Thanksgiving holiday. He will take up the budget for final decisions when he returns here.

A business upturn is considerably relieving the anxiety of administration officials over budget prospects but there has been no suggestion from the administration so far that it will be possible to balance the budget or even come close to balance for another year or so.

On the basis of current spending and tax trends it is quite probable that Mr. Roosevelt will end his second term with an uninterrupted series of treasury deficits.

A downward deficit trend was interrupted last year by the 1937-38 depression which not only reduced Federal Tax Revenue but forced Mr. Roosevelt further to unbalance the budget by new resort to expensive pump-priming. That combination of circumstances still affects treasury books.

is practically doubled today because Mr. Roosevelt has spent more in the first four months of this fiscal year than in the previous comparative period while simultaneously, Federal tax collectors were obtaining less revenue.

FRIEDMAN'S Dry Goods Store

Ever appreciative of the trade that is given them, and wishing to make people happy at Christmas time, a group of Grenada merchants have arranged to give $250.00 free, on Friday, December 2nd.

The plan was open to all local business men, the special solicitation having made by Mr. T. K. McEachin, who specializes in work of this kind.

Mainly the group of merchants participating have their advertisements on this page, which the readers are requested to scan carefully. Others who are participating are R. H. Herring and D. D. Smith's Volunteer Store.

The promotion, which Mr. McEachin conducted under the sponsorship of The Daily Star and Grenada Sentinel, was in the interest of the community and not in the interest of any specific group of merchants. If there are those who were not called upon, it was purely an oversight on the part of Mr. McEachin and not intentional.

The participating group is anxious to show in every way their desire to give those who shop in Grenada the very best service and consideration obtainable.

New Airline Links
Canada More Closely

Montreal — The Trans-Canada Air Lines' New Montreal-Vancouver air express service is resulting in closer business relations between Eastern and Western Canada and in the development of new commercial markets, a survey discloses.

Goods that once took several days to cross the country are now being flown from coast to coast in 25 hours, and the fast service is expanding the exchange of products, particularly those that are perishable, between the east and west.

The principal shipments eastward at present are delicate flowers from British Columbia, such as gardenias, which formerly imported from the United States. One firm of wholesale flower dealers declares the cost of bringing flowers from British Columbia are much lower than importing them from the United States and it has closed its American sources of supply except in cases of emergency.

It is expected that quantities of holly will be brought from British Columbia by plane during the Christmas season.

Meanwhile, westbound planes are regularly carrying the latest fashions in men's and women's clothing, newspaper cuts and mats, films, and newsreels, and on one occasion a shipment of lobsters from the Maritimes.

TRAFFIC RISES ON MISSISSIPPI UPPER STRETCH

MARQUETTE, La.—Traffic on the Mississippi river has increased tremendously during the past shipping season.

An indication of the amount of traffic is gained from the fact that the Milwaukee railroad pontoon bridge here, which has to be open for an average of 15 minutes to allow passage of a boat, has been open approximately seven full days since last March 28 when the first tugboat went downstream.

In 1937 a total of 408 boats passed the 276-foot pontoon, while this year the figure is expected to be exceeded by almost 300. By mid-November, approximately 675 boats had passed. In 1936 the number of boats was only 349.

The number of barges plying the river also has increased, with 273 going through during October alone.

Creation of a new channel and locks is credited with increasing the use of the Mississippi for freight shipping. Most of the barges carry oil, coal, machinery or grain.

Miss Proby Entertains

Last night Miss Susan Proby entertained the football squad and other guests including Coach and Mrs. J. C. Hathorn, Assistant Coach Slaten, Mr. and Mrs. John Rundle, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Proby, with a supper at the Rose Cafe.

The table was artistically decorated with red and white sticks of candy representing goal posts and vases of white cards were footballs.

The menu consisted of chicken broth roast chicken, dressing, creamed potatoes, English peas, pineapple salad, hot rolls, pickle and coffee with apple pie for dessert.

After the supper talks were made by Coach Hathorn and assistant coach Slaten, Prof. Rundle and the football captain Billy Harper, and Mr. L. C. Proby, several other short talks and toasts were made by other members of the party.

Miss Proby was the football sponsor this year.

Hinds County
In Vice Crusade

JACKSON, Miss.—Hinds county citizens today began a state-wide campaign for the enforcement of dry laws and gambling regulations.

More than 200 Laymen and Ministers met yesterday to form the Hinds County Better Citizenship Council. It was expected to cooperate with law enforcement officials by supplying them with evidence of gambling and liquor sales in Hinds county and the nearby "Gold Coast" of Rankin county. According to preliminary plans, members would volunteer to see that prosecution was carried through.

Speakers at the organization meeting cited the laxity of law enforcement in this area and the unsuccessful effort by Gov. Hugh White to close the "Gold Coast" with State troops and a $25,000 appropriation.

L. J. Jackson of the Mississippi Anti-Saloon League in pledging the cooperation of his organization, said that although the State legally was dry, 39 Federal liquor licenses had been issued in Rankin county and 36 in Hinds.

Members of the society, agreeing with the Rev. I. F. Metts, of Jackson, that it was time for all good citizens to rise up and assist officials, made plans to form councils throughout the State.

Air Heads Investigates

By ROBERT L. SPENCER
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO — The Civil

Aeronautics authority investigated today the crash landing of a Luxury Airliner in the Pacific Ocean with the loss of five lives.

Only Isadore Edelstein, a paroled habitual criminal, and Capt. Charles Baldwin Stead, the veteran pilot, escaped.

The other five would be alive too, investigators said, had they ridden the crippled plane ashore, as did the survivors. The cabin of the United Air Luxury Liner was dry, even after drifting through the surf onto the rocks near Point Reyes.

Coast guardsmen believed the pilot Lloyd Jones, Seattle, stewardess Frona (Bobbie) Clay, San Francisco, and the passengers were drowned in heavy Kelp beds as they swam toward the cliffs rising out of the sea 30 miles north.

The passengers were Philip Hart, president of the Pacific Bridge Co.; Ivan B. Helleblower, San Francisco, partner in the Leland M. Kaiser & Co. financial firm; and Sidney L. Shontz, San Jose mining engineer, who was ill and had an injury which prevented his swim-
